

International Student Orientation

At the beginning of each term, the Office of Global Services (OGS) (<http://www.northeastern.edu/ogs>) conducts orientation sessions, events, and activities designed to ensure all international students have completed all U.S. documentation requirements. OGS staff provides information and support to help international students transition to life in the United States and at Northeastern University. During Orientation, students will also have the opportunity to meet other international students, learn from shared experiences, and find any assistance they may need.

Orientation week is very important. All students should register, attend every mandatory session, and attend as many scheduled events as they can to avoid missing other important information during the first few weeks on campus.

For a schedule of required sessions and other events, please visit the OGS website (<https://www.northeastern.edu/ogs/home/new-students/orientation/#1501875537352-ce3d3c3e-69d2>).
