

Accelerated Degrees

The School of Law offers a PlusJD pathway that allows students to accelerate the attainment of the JD degree by applying School of Law coursework completed as an undergraduate toward both the undergraduate and JD degrees. In most circumstances, all undergraduate degree requirements must be completed before the student begins their first-year JD coursework. Degrees are earned sequentially, with the bachelor's degree attainment followed by coursework to complete the JD. Interested students should consult their advisor during their freshman or sophomore years. See the PlusJD program (<https://law.northeastern.edu/admissions/jd/application-process/plusjd/>) for additional information.
